COMPOST BINS MAKE FALL CLEANUP A BREEZE!

To make it easier to compost leaves and kitchen scraps, 10,395 home composting bins, valued at $296,000, have been delivered to 76 cities and towns as part of the Department of Environmental Protection's (DEP) recycling equipment grant program, funded through the Executive Office of Environmental Affairs' Clean Environment Fund, the fund for unclaimed bottle deposits. The bins, which retail for $60-100, are available to residents of grantee communities for about $20. To obtain a compost bin, see the attached list of 1994, 1995 & 1996 Home Compost Bin grantees and call the contact person listed. If your community is not listed, try a neighboring grantee.

Two styles of compost bins are available through DEP's grant program, the Brave New Composter and the Earth Machine. Both are easy to assemble, allow for efficient, aerobic composting, and are rodent-resistant. Both are made from a minimum of 50 percent post-consumer recycled plastic collected or processed in Massachusetts. Average households can compost between 500 and 1,000 pounds of organic material each year in the bins, producing a rich soil supplement out of material that would otherwise be disposed.

DEP's compost bin grant program began with a pilot program in western Massachusetts in FY 1993, where 5,300 bins were distributed. A follow-up survey revealed that 92% of the bins were in use one year later, and that people are putting out an average of 27% less garbage for disposal since they started using their compost bins. In 1994 and 1995, 155 communities participated in the statewide compost bin grant program, through which nearly 35,000 bins were distributed. Many of these programs still have bins available. Under the state's grant program, municipalities use revenue from bin sales to purchase additional bins, resulting in a total of 20,800 bins available at the subsidized price through this year's program. After the granted bins have been distributed, communities may continue to order bins under DEP's statewide contract for $22-$37 (depending on bin type).

Municipalities that did not participate in DEP's compost bin grant program may still offer bins to residents for $22-$37. Any political subdivision of the Commonwealth may order composting bins at these prices under Massachusetts contract A5054, in effect until May 4, 1997. Descriptions and vendor contact information for the compost bins are on the reverse side of this notice. For further information on home composting or the bin grant program, contact Ann McGovern, DEP Compost Program, at (617) 292-5834.

DESCRIPTION OF HOME COMPOSTING BINS
AVAILABLE UNDER COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS CONTRACT A5054

Two vendors were selected for DEP's FY94, FY95 and FY96 home composting bin grant programs to meet the needs of urban, suburban and rural communities. These bins may be purchased by any city, town or other political subdivision in Massachusetts under state contract A5054, in effect until May 4, 1997, and made available to residents at cost or at a subsidized price.

All bins available under the state contract offer rodent resistance by means of secure covers and floors, openings to allow for efficient, aerobic composting, and simple assembly without tools. They differ primarily in design, appearance and capacity. Communities may choose to make one or several types of bins available to residents. Contact the vendors for more detailed descriptions and ordering information. Prices include shipping.
